Comments on H.R. 5680, the Ethiopia Freedom, Democracy, and Human Rights Advancement Act of 2006

GENERAL COMMENTS

The bill compromises the national security interests of both the United States and Ethiopia and will not advance its stated goals of freedom, democracy and human rights in Ethiopia. Its findings largely reflect the claims of various opposition groups to the determined efforts of the Ethiopian government to achieve democracy through free and fair elections and the rule of law. Worse, the bill will likely set back these efforts by focusing primarily on opposition claims and accusing the government of abuses that are not fully documented. The bill also ties the hands of the Administration by conditioning aid on unworkable and imprecise benchmarks and is likely to result in the prohibition of both new and ongoing democracy, human rights, trade promotion, and agriculture assistance programs.

Most importantly, the bill will prohibit critical security assistance to Ethiopia at a time when volatility in Somalia and instability in the Horn of Africa region more than ever demand that the U.S. make full use of the intelligence and defense cooperation of Ethiopia, its strongest and only democratic ally in the region. The National Security Strategy of the United States (<http://www.whitehouse.gov/nsc/nssall.html>) states that Ethiopia is an anchor for regional engagement in the Horn of Africa and a critical U.S. partner in counter-terrorism. The strategy further states that, "An ever more lethal environment exists in Africa as local civil wars spread beyond borders to create regional war zones. Forming coalitions of the willing and cooperative security arrangements are key to confronting these emerging transitional threats."

It should be noted that U.S. security assistance to Ethiopia has thus far focused on activities (such as International Military Education and Training Programs, Foreign Military Financing, International Narcotics and Law Enforcement, Africa Contingency Operations Training and Assistance, Drug Interdiction and Counter Drug Activities and Enhanced International Peacekeeping Capabilities) that are geared towards effectively advancing U.S. and Ethiopia common security and defense objectives and interests. These cooperative efforts are aimed at influencing the development of military institutions and their role in democratic societies; equipping military leaders with the professional development required to lead and maintain effective military forces under democratic civil control; enhancing the capacity to respond quickly and effectively to peace support and humanitarian relief situation on the continent; and improving defense capabilities with a view to supporting US regional security goals. Any attempt to suspend security cooperation (even if assistance for peacekeeping and counter-terrorism is excepted) would defeat these objectives and erode the prevailing sense of trust, which is the basis for the overall security cooperation between the two countries.

Recent events in Somalia, where Sheikh Hassan Dahir Awys, a known al-Queda supporter, was appointed leader of the Union of Islamic Courts, underscores the absolute critical importance of a well-trained, well-equipped Ethiopian Defense Force. Any such attempt to weaken Ethiopia's ability to (1) counteract Somalia's homegrown terrorists and (2) prevent Somalia from allowing outside terrorist organizations to use its "ungoverned space" as a base is a threat to the Horn of Africa, the Middle East and the United States.

SECTION 2. STATEMENT OF POLICY

1. On page 2, line 7, insert “and to establish regional stability in the Horn of Africa” after “War on Terror”

Justification

Ethiopia remains a vital ally of the United States in the fight against terrorism and efforts to promote regional stability in the Horn of Africa. At present, the United States and Ethiopia are working closely together with respect to the growing threat of Islamic fundamentalism in Somalia. The Ethiopian government and military coordinate extensively with the U.S. regional military task force stationed at Djibouti under the authority of the United States Central Command. U.S. Army Special Forces and the Combined Joint Task Force-Horn of Africa are providing training to enhance Ethiopian border patrol and security skills. The Ethiopian government has provided enhanced physical security, conducted investigations and provided protective surveillance in response to threat information directed at U.S. citizens. Moreover, according to the United Nations, Ethiopia contributes more military and police units to UN peacekeeping operations than all but five countries in the world.

2. On page 2, lines 8 and 9, delete “seek the unconditional release of all political prisoners and prisoners of conscience in Ethiopia” and insert “ensure unconditional respect for due process and rule of law”

Justification

The terms “political prisoners” and “prisoners of conscience” are undefined and mischaracterize the situation in Ethiopia. While the Government of Ethiopia understands the concerns of the international community with respect to the post-election arrest of opposition leaders, human rights activists and journalists, all of these individuals were charged with having incited or been personally involved in the violence that threatened the stability of the country. All of those who were taken into custody initially in the wake of the disturbances and who were not involved directly in the violence have already been released (over 95% of those detained). Key leaders of the opposition have been charged under the relevant provisions of the Ethiopian Penal Code and their trials have begun; their due process rights have been and will continue to be fully respected and the trials are open to the public. The Ethiopian government is also doing its best to expedite these trials.

SECTION 3. FINDINGS

1. On page 4, lines 11 and 12, delete “However trained local groups were barred from observing the elections.”

Justification

This statement is factually inaccurate. The restriction was first imposed by the National Elections Board, but was subsequently lifted by the Federal Supreme Court. Consequently, the Ethiopian Human Rights Council and other groups which appealed the decision of the National Elections Board did in fact observe the elections.

2. On page 4, line 13, delete “apparent”

Justification

Improvement in the Ethiopian electoral process is well-documented. Most international observers hailed the general election in May 2005 as an important development in the country's efforts at democratization. The Carter Center, for example, stated that “Ethiopia has made tremendous strides toward democracy in [the months before the election] including more open debate, greater political participation, large rallies, and enormously high voter turnout on election day.” The U.S. State Department stated that, “These elections stand out as a milestone in creating a new, more competitive multi-party political system in one of Africa's largest and most important countries.” This success is evidenced by the dramatic increase of opposition seats in the Parliament. In the previous election, all opposition parties controlled 12 seats out of 546 (largely due to an opposition boycott). In the 2005 election, opposition parties won 174 seats, or 32% of the vote. The majority EPRDF party retained its control of the government with 327 seats, or 59% of the vote.

3. On page 4, line 16, insert “some” before “observers”

Justification

It is misleading to imply that all observers saw the preliminary 2005 election results as questionable. While the election was deemed by the European Union election observer team to fall short of international standards for fair and free elections, other teams drew different conclusions. The African Union report on September 14 commended “the Ethiopian people's display of genuine commitment to democratic ideals”, and on September 15 the Carter Center concluded that “the majority of the constituency results based on the May 15 polling and tabulation are credible and reflect competitive conditions.” Even the EU preliminary statement of 2005 also said “...the polling processes were generally positive. The overall assessment of the process has been rated as good in 64% of the cases, and very good in 24%.”

4. On page 4, line 19, insert “police and” before “demonstrators”

Justification

The finding omits entirely the refusal of the opposition to contest the results of the election by lawful means, either through the courts, or through a negotiated solution proposed by the Ambassadors of the EU and UK, but rather to pursue a course of street demonstrations that lead to violence. As recognized later in the bill (page 6), in addition to demonstrators, seven policemen were killed in the violence that followed the 2005 general election.

5. On page 4, lines 22 and 23, delete “and the elected mayor of Addis Ababa”.

Justification

Under Ethiopian law, the Addis Ababa city mayor is not directly elected by the people. Due to a boycott by the majority of elected city council members, the council has never been constituted, let alone designated a mayor.

6. On page 5, line 17, insert “after repeated attempts to encourage the elected Addis Ababa city council members to take their seats,” before “the Government”.

Justification

Following the 2005 general election, the U.S. ambassador, in cooperation with a number of European ambassadors, led an initiative to encourage the elected Addis Ababa city council members to take their seats and fulfill their responsibilities. The National Elections Board of Ethiopia (NEBE) extended the registration period for city council members three times to reach a quorum. However, the UEDP, with the single largest bloc of seats (63 of 138) succeeded only in convincing 67 of the required 70 to register. It was only when the elected city council failed to reach a quorum that a caretaker government was appointed. The needs of the people residing in Addis Ababa had to be addressed against the backdrop of the elected city council’s continued refusal to take over the city administration.

7. On page 5, lines 20-22, delete “but the designated mayor has been in detention since November 2005”.

Justification

See Recommendation 5 above.

8. On page 6, lines 4-9, delete “Moreover, journalists and editors of the independent press have been and continue to face harassment and prosecution for alleged violations of press laws in Ethiopia. Dozens of journalists have fled the country, and some are currently in exile fearing prosecution or harassment.”

Justification

This sentence makes an absolute statement without recognizing local complexities and efforts to reduce domestic tensions following the 2005 elections. While Ethiopia has experienced considerable difficulties between the government and the independent press, the Government of Ethiopia is seeking ways to reduce this friction and is, without reservation, committed to building a viable democracy, included a free and independent media. This is a formidable challenge for even the most developed nations, to whom Ethiopia looks to for guidance and expertise. The events following the 2005 elections reached an unprecedented level of incitement and acrimony, but the government has limited its response to seeking resolution for such matters through the courts. Nevertheless, the Ethiopian media law is currently under review and the government welcomes constructive criticism from its friends and allies.

9. On page 6, lines 21-23, delete “Nonetheless, government security forces continue to abuse opposition leaders, supporters, and family members.”

Justification

This assertion is based on unverified allegations made by opposition parties and supporters. Nevertheless, if there are any specific allegations or problems in this regard, the Government of Ethiopia is committed to addressing them expeditiously. The Ethiopian Constitution enumerates a comprehensive list of the fundamental human and democratic rights and freedoms under Articles 13 to 44. It affirms that the provisions contained therein shall be respected and enforced by all federal and state organs, and that they shall be interpreted in a manner conforming to the principles of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, international covenants on human rights and international instruments adopted by Ethiopia. Accordingly, the Government attaches particular significance to its obligations to ensure the respect of the fundamental human and democratic rights and freedoms of its citizens, and in 2004 created the Ethiopian Human Rights Commission and the Institution of the Ombudsman.

10. On page 7, lines 2-3, delete “the newly elected mayor of Addis Ababa (Berhanu Nega)”.

Justification

See Recommendation 5 above.

11. On page 7, line 5, insert “attempted” before “genocide”

Justification

The referenced individuals have not been charged with genocide. They have been charged with attempted genocide. Under Ethiopian law, genocide is defined as “whosoever, in time of war or in time of peace, with intent to destroy, in whole or in part, a nation, nationality, ethnical, racial, national, color, religious or political group, organizes, orders or engages in: (a) killing, bodily harm or serious injury to the physical or mental health of members of the group, in any way whatsoever or causing them to disappear; or (b) measures to prevent the propagation or continued survival of its members or their progeny; or (c) the compulsory movement or dispersion of peoples or children or their placing under living conditions calculated to result in their death or disappearance.”

12. On page 7, lines 6-12, delete “These measures were deliberately taken to stifle and criminalize opposition party activity in the country. The measures also were intended to intimidate and silence independent press and civil society, raising serious questions about the Ethiopian Government’s commitment to democracy and good governance.”
Justification

These sentences inaccurately assume an understanding of the Ethiopian Government’s intentions and motivations. On the contrary, the Government believed that violence and incitement of ethnic tensions that followed the 2005 elections threatened the stability of the country. More than Eighty-eight percent of elected opposition leaders have taken their seats in the Parliament. However, some opposition leaders are charged with several counts of criminal activities under Ethiopian Penal Code, including: (1) attempting to overthrow the constitution and the constitutional order through illegal means; (2) obstructing the lawful operation of important public institutions by instigating a nationwide strike and violence; attempting to raise an armed uprising to overthrow the duly established lawful government; (4) instigating and provoking acts of hostility and discord among the population in order to undermine the political integrity of the Republic; (5) impairing the defensive power of the state by instigating members of the armed forces to commit mutiny and to disobey their commanding officers; (6) entering into a secret agreement with an armed insurgency backed by an enemy state (Eritrea); and (7) provoking hostility and hatred against targeted ethnic and political groups. The defendants are being tried in a fully transparent process and consistent with their due process rights.

SECTION 4. SUPPORT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS IN ETHIOPIA

1. On page 7, lines 20-25, delete the entire paragraph.

Justification

See Recommendation 2 for Section 2 above.

2. On page 8, line 21, delete “and the current government”.

Justification

There are no credible allegations that any current Ethiopian government official residing in the United States has been involved in “gross human rights allegations.”

SECTION 5. SUPPORT FOR DEMOCRATIZATION IN ETHIOPIA

1. On page 10, lines 8-23, delete the entire paragraph.

Justification

This paragraph would deny “nonessential United States assistance” based on general findings with no indication of who would make such findings. Almost any action by the government of Ethiopia, whether or not it is warranted, could be construed as “acting to obstruct” these activities. Moreover, the definition of “nonessential United States assistance” would cover much of the assistance allowed for in subsequent sections of the bill, including peacekeeping and counterterrorism assistance. Ironically, cutting off nonessential assistance would suspend the newly authorized and ongoing human rights promotion, democracy building, and agriculture assistance programs

SECTION 6. ENSURING GOVERNMENT SUPPORT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS, DEMOCRACY, AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT IN ETHIOPIA

- 1. On page 11, lines 6-19, delete entire paragraph.

Justification

The bill’s restriction on security cooperation does not take into account current U.S. national security objectives and the ongoing U.S.-Ethiopia partnership regarding Somalia and the Horn of Africa. It is also impractical to require that peacekeeping or counterterrorism assistance not be used for any other security-related purpose, which presumably includes border security. The small amounts of military and training purposes that are affected by the cut-off include modest programs for demining, communications equipment, ammunition safety, drug interdiction and counter drug activities, vehicle spares and professional military training at U.S. military schools. These programs not only improve the Ethiopian military’s efficiency and professionalism, but also promote mutual understanding and cooperation with the U.S. military.

- 2. On page 12, line 6, delete “accused” and insert “involved in”

Justification

Under this provision, any unsubstantiated accusation would trigger travel restrictions for Ethiopian government officials. The standard should require that such officials were actually involved in gross human rights violations.

H.R. 5680 recognizes the legitimacy of the Independent Inquiry Commission, which was established by the Ethiopian parliament to investigate whether (1) the force used by security personnel to control the disorder was excessive or not; (2) the handling of human rights in matters related to the problem was conducted in accordance with the Constitution and rule of law; and (3) the damage caused to life and property as the result of the incident. It is important to let the investigation process take its own course. In a situation where the inquiry and investigation process are underway, imposing travel restriction on the basis of mere accusations would prejudice the process and be speculative at best.

- 3. On pages 12-13, lines 20-25 and 1-4, delete subparagraphs (A) and (B).

Justification

The terms “political prisoners” and “prisoners of conscience” are undefined and mischaracterize the situation in Ethiopia. Key leaders of the opposition have been charged under the relevant provisions of the Penal Code and their trials have begun; their due process rights have been and will continue to be fully respected and the trials are open to the public. International observers, including the U.S. Embassy in Addis Ababa is closely observing the trials.

4. On page 13, lines 16-20, delete subparagraph (F).

Justification

The Ethiopian government has hired foreign consultants to review the media law of the country in light of accepted international standards.

5. On page 14, lines 3-7, delete subparagraph (I)

Justification

The majority party and the opposition parties in the Ethiopian parliament have agreed to include reform of the National Election Board as an agenda item for their ongoing dialogue.

SECTION 7. SUPPORT FOR ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT IN ETHIOPIA

1. On page 16, line 4, insert “upon their full renunciation of terrorism and violence” after “Ethiopia”

Justification

The bill states that it is the sense of Congress that the U.S. Government should encourage the Government of Ethiopia to enter into discussion with the Oromo Liberation Front (OLF). The OLF identifies itself as an armed resistance group that targets the Government of Ethiopia (see <http://www.oromoliberationfront.org/index.htm>). According to the National Memorial Institute for the Prevention of Terrorism (MIPT), funded by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security:

“The Oromo Liberation Front is an ethnic separatist guerrilla group operating in the horn of Africa. Their goal is to carve out a separate state within the current borders of Ethiopia as a homeland for the Oromo people, currently estimated to make up some 40% of Ethiopia's population...[T]he OLF has continued its terrorist campaign, signaling that nothing short of an Oromo state will bring about an end to the violence. Parties from the neighboring countries of Somalia and Eritrea are suspected of supporting the OLF in an effort to weaken Ethiopia.”(<http://www.tkb.org/Group.jsp?groupID=3651>)

In contrast, the Oromo Federalist Democratic Movement, the Oromo National Congress and the Southern Ethiopia People's Democratic Coalition, political parties with broad support in the Oromo community, are currently part of the elected democratic opposition in the Ethiopian Parliament.

2. On page 16, line 23, delete “Pursuant to the Government of Ethiopia’s acceptance of the reforms in subsection (a).”

Justification

Ethiopia welcomes any support that complements the development endeavors of the country and appreciates the important role that the U.S. could play in providing technical and financial assistance for the development of relevant economic policies. This provision, however, conveys a sense of imposition rather than partnership. Moreover, it make no specific reform proposals, yet conditions financing for U.S.-Ethiopian commercial ventures on the acceptance of such undefined reforms.

SECTION 8. REPORT

No Recommendations.

SECTION 9. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS

The amounts authorized (a total of $20,000,000) over two years are not adequate to fund the purposes specified in the bill.
